Community involvement: Metropolitan YMCA board; Tucson Fiesta Bowl committee; Iranian Association of Tucson board

What is the best advice you've received?:

Always be true to yourself. Runner-up: Never play cards with a man whose name is the same as a city in Texas.

Describe yourself with one word: character or purehilarity (OK, I made that up.)

What is the unique thing no one knows about you?: I am more shy than I let on.

A word from the nominator: "Ali's legal background, especially in the area of labor and employment law, helps provide an important and much needed perspective on various business issues within our community. Concurrently, as an attorney, his profession affords him the opportunity to frequently interact with Tucson business leaders and politicians on a number of levels. This provides him an opportunity to learn from longtime leaders and respected individuals so that he can continue to make a positive and lasting imprint on the future of Tucson. Ali believes that with the right leadership in place, Tucson can become the crown jewel not only of Arizona but the Southwest.

- Ronald J. Stolkin, partner, Fennemore Craig, PC
